ST. ANTHONY HIGH SCHOOL
Trenton, New Jersey

FOREWORD

It is with commingled feelings of pride and satisfaction that the class of 1965 publishes the first edition of "The Corristin". In so doing the staff feels that in presenting this yearbook, it is introducing to the public in a very special way the new St. Anthony High School—its purpose, aims, courses, and activities.

Herein are reviewed pictorially and verbally many of the events of the three years of the school's existence. Truly great is the art of beginning, and the class of 1965 is glad to have been privileged to be among the beginners.

To alleviate over-crowded conditions in Trenton area parochial schools and to assure a Catholic secondary school education not only for his own parishioners but also for the students of neighboring parishes, the Right Reverend Monsignor Michael P. McCorristin, pastor of St. Anthony Church, assumed the task of building St. Anthony High School.

With the permission of His Excellency, the Most Reverend George W. Ahr, and the encouragement of Diocesan Superintendent of Schools, the Very Reverend Thomas J. Frain, construction of the new school was begun in March, 1962.

The school opened its doors for the first time on Wednesday, September 5, 1962. Enrolled were 468 freshmen and sophomores, representing the parishes of St. Anthony, Immaculate Conception, Holy Angels, and St. Raphael. Dedication of the new school took place September 9, 1962.

In its second year the enrollment rose to over 700 students, and with the anticipation of over 300 freshmen in the third year, it was necessary to add a new wing to the already crowded school. This was ready for occupancy in February, 1965. Now at the end of its third year, St. Anthony's is a fully equipped and fully accredited four year high school.

As we, the first graduating class, look back upon three wonderful years, we realize that they were made possible only by the untiring efforts of one man. "Monsignor, we give thanks to you" is the theme song in every student's heart. Therefore, to publicly acknowledge our gratitude, we dedicate this first yearbook, Monsignor, to you.

Competent advisers are essential to a firm beginning. The Most Reverend George W. Ahr, Bishop of Trenton, and the Very Reverend Thomas J. Frain, Superintendent of Schools, have given assistance vital to this school's fulfillment. Without the zeal and interest of their endeavors, the attainment of our goals could never be achieved. Their wise counsel gives us the incentive to become alert, informed Catholics. Acknowledging our indebtedness, we pledge ourselves to the ideals of a true Christian life.

HIS EXCELLENCY THE MOST REVEREND
GEORGE W. AHR, S.T.D.

SISTER M. GEORGIANA, O.S.F.
Principal

We cannot end our high school years without acknowledging the work accomplished by our devoted faculty. The task of laying the educational foundations of a new school was not an easy one. But under the patient, experienced, and competent direction of Sister M. Georgiana, our principal, the Sisters and lay teachers cooperated in building up the various departments to make St. Anthony High a top-ranking school. With unselfish devotion they strove not only to teach us the rudiments of secular studies but also to instill in us the principles of Christian living.

Enthusiastic, congenial, educated, religious—this is how we shall always remember them. Long will the vision of their happy faces and guiding hands retain a place in our treasury of memories.

JUNIORS

The junior class shares with us the experience of pioneers. In fact they, the class of '66, will be the first to boast of having completed their full four years at St. Anthony High. They have cooperated with the faculty and shared with the seniors in many of the successes achieved thus far and in establishing precedents that we hope the underclassmen as our successors will continue.

"Practice makes perfect," is the motto of these future career girls who realize the importance of typing in office work.

At St. Anthony's the student who is interested in learning has every opportunity for a complete secondary school education. Those who aspire to higher education have available to them four years of preparatory work in English, mathematics, science, history, and foreign languages.

For those whose formal education will end with high school, there is a well integrated business course. Also offered are courses in economics, physical sciences, art, mechanical drawing, and homemaking.

But above and beyond all these, a thorough course in religion is scheduled for each class. Thus the primary purpose of man's existence to know, love, and serve God is never lost sight of at S.A. Regardless of his talents or ambitions, the student is made aware of the one thing necessary—his eternal destiny.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Elected to the highest offices in the school for the year 1964-'65 are: Jo Ann Skillodge, secretary; Susan Davies, treasurer; Brian Duperrault, president; and John Hencken, vice-president.

The Student Council serves to give practical training in the field of government to those who have been elected as officers of the various classes. As a means of training leaders and as an aid to school discipline, the organization is invaluable.

Under the guidance of Sr. Marie Andrea, the members meet once a week to discuss and provide legislation which coordinates the activities of the school. The Council thus strives to serve as the right hand of the faculty and the best foot forward of the student body.

Nominations and elections for the Central Committee and class presidents are held in May. Homeroom representatives are elected in September. Speaker at this year's installation was the Reverend Father Giles, O.F.M.C., of Immaculate Conception Church.

Brian Duperrault pledges his oath of loyalty as president of the Student Council before Sr. M. Georgiana, principal. Student Council installation is held in September.

GLEE CLUB AND BAND

Among the most important activities in any school are the Glee Club and the Band or Orchestra, for music is still the universal language, the language of the soul. In 1963 a Glee Club under the direction of Sr. Francis Georgia and a Band conducted by Mr. Harry Lombardo were organized. They made their first public appearance on December 22, 1963, when they presented a Christmas Chorale and Pageant. Later in the year the group presented an assembly program commemorating the New Jersey Tercentenary.

Now directed by Mr. Thomas Weiss of Westminster Choir College, the Glee Club together with the Band this year again presented a Christmas program of traditional and modern carols. A spring concert was held in May. This is but the beginning, and the music department is looking forward to great achievements in the years to come.

The mellow strains and jaunty rhythm of John Peraino's trumpet add Broadway sparkle to the Band's performance

FRESHMAN DAY

With Freshman Day came a warm welcome to the newcomers from the upperclassmen. Relived were gay memories of the New York World's Fair, which was correlated with student life here. The program presented Freddie and Flora Frosh, Richard Persichetti and Carol Dietrich, touring the festival grounds. Their first stop was before a replica of the Pieta. Then they moved onto G.M. (Good Manners) Futurama, where seniors offered bits of helpful advice, and to the Wax Museum mummy, who warned them of the fate of those who skip detention. At last with weary feet they gladly greeted the Sandman, Kevin McLernon, with his beauty-rest mattress.

Entertainment was provided by the Band and the singers, as well as by Gold Button cheerleaders who danced around the brightly decorated S. A. o'Sphere.

To the delight of fellow cheerleaders, Michelle Yacenda generously shares a treat with the feline mascot, Puss Cat (Eugene Kosta).

A cordial welcome is extended to our Frosh

"Hi, ho, come to the Fair!" is echoed throughout the gym to welcome the freshmen.

"Go Greyhound and leave the driving to us," exclaims Richard Smith, as Freddie and Flora Frosh prepare for a relaxing tour around the "grounds."

Business manager Jane Warner, soberly attacking her typing chores, is offered assistance by seniors Anne Larkin, Harry Howe, and Carol Folmer.

ANTONIAN

Proud to be the first of many activities to be inaugurated here is the school newspaper, the "Antonian." It was begun under the supervision of the late Sr. M. Claretta, and a group of ambitious students eager to furnish the student body with news of the newly built school.

Known as the "Pioneer" in its initial stage, the newspaper was mimeographed, with pen sketches to relieve the type. This year the "Antonian" marked its third anniversary with its first printed edition.

Under a senior staff, assisted by juniors and sophomores, the "Antonian" is now published five times a year. Each edition requires time and patience for writing and rewriting, proof reading, layouts, final drafts, and meeting deadlines. Its ultimate aim is to train for Christian leadership in the field of journalism.

Enthusiastically reviewing newspaper articles are sophomore reporters: Carol Archer, Stephen Fox, Jean Stillitano, Alice Landerkin, and Mary Irlen.

The "Antonian" keeps the student informed

Sports writers Joseph Stec and Gerald Infantini diagram fourth page layout for the next issue of the "Antonian."

Early in 1963 the first yearbook staff was organized and moderated by the late Sr. M. Claretta. Ideas were gathered and plans were begun for the production of the first annual.

As September 1964 approached, ideas became realities and plans moved into action. "What shall we name the book?" was, however, the first big question. A "title" contest was then sponsored by the staff, who later decided that the entry "Corristin," submitted by both Theresa Maguire and Carol Witkowski, was not only unique but also significant. This title would be a lasting tribute to our founder, Monsignor McCorristin.

"Great is the art of beginning," a quotation from the poet Longfellow, was chosen as the theme in keeping with the newness of the school. The cover was designed to emphasize both the theme and the school colors, brown and gold.

"Is this where it will go?" Susan Lotys, literary editor, inquires of Kathleen Chesner, assistant editor-in-chief.

CORRISTIN

The "Corristin" records treasured memories

Collecting ideas for the yearbook is all in the day's work for Karen Londahl, Beverly Materniak, Patricia Hice, and Elaine McCarthy, members of the "Corristin" staff.

Emily Calderone wonders whether we'll receive the book in May or July, as Carol Meszaros busily types senior copy.

Whenever Holy Mass is celebrated at the school, many of the students receive Holy Communion. Here Richard Eckstein holds the paten as Father Lyons distributes Holy Communion

RING DAY

Monsignor blesses the rings with a beautiful prayer.

"They're so pretty!" sigh the girls, as they thrill over their newly acquired treasures.

Junior-Ring Day proclaims our seniority

The day we had long awaited finally arrived. At last they were ours—the class rings we cherish. Anxiously we listened for our names to be called, then we ascended the stage to receive the symbols of our seniority. The underclassmen, too, shared in the joy and expectation of the day when as juniors they, too, would receive their rings. Junior-Ring day was climaxed by a dance in our honor, sponsored by the class of '66.

ART CLUB

Putting finishing touches on the stage setting for the Mission Rally at the War Memorial Building are: Charles Phillips, Joseph Razimowicz, Alice Lepkowski, Rodney Kobylarz, Deborah Yuzwa, and Rosemarie Wallace.

Creative talents are displayed through extra-curricular activities.

An essential role in the production of a well-balanced student is his exploration of extra-curricular activities. The many and varied clubs act as channels bringing forth hidden arts and talents. They strive to maintain healthy outlets for both mental and physical inclinations. By doing this, they aid in molding a sound Christian character.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever." These words cannot fail to come to the mind of the passerby who observes this display of the work of Mrs. Gummere's art students in pencil, water color, and oil.

Laura Mazon traces the progress of their respective homerooms to San-Hi Mission Club representatives: Joseph Mastromarino, Pamela Grubb, Joseph Combos, Johanna Yeck, and Patricia Dougherty. Pamela is president of the club.

SAN-HI MISSION CLUB

Awareness of the needs of others has been characteristic of Antonites from the beginning. Already in 1962 the San-Hi Mission Club was formed by Sr. Mary Martha, and ever since students have generously responded to the appeal of the missions. One hundred per cent enrollment in the Red Cross is also encouraged, and the donation of baskets of food to needy families at Christmas time has become a tradition.

Lorraine Tylus and Rita O'Lone bring their contributions to Donald McGrath and Florence Lloyd, who are packing food baskets for the annual Red-Cross drive.

RED CROSS CLUB

G. A. A.

"Who needs the Dewey Decimal System, when I have capable assistants like Anne Chamberlain and Carol Hoey!" exclaims Mrs. Stein, school librarian, about her faithful group of library aides.

LIBRARY AIDES

Loyal Goldwater fans, Janet Thiel, Diane Blier, Mary Jane Trunzo, and Gerald McCartney, inspect the election display, which they helped to arrange.

S.A.H. offers a variety of clubs for a variety of preferences. With paint and brush come fresh and vivid expressions of promising artists in the Art Club. Language clubs realize a fuller appreciation of an ancient or a modern language and a better understanding of the people and cultures of other lands. Future scientists explore the realms and mysteries of nature in experiments conducted by the Biology and Chemistry Clubs. Amateur radio and photography fans find many helpful hints in the Radio and Photography Clubs.

DRAMATICS

"Now all our monetary problems are solved," exclaims Harry Howe to Carol Witkowski, Margaret McDermott, and Merilee Warner, members of the Drama Club financial staff.

Students interested in public speaking find the Forum Club a useful asset in building techniques in debate and speech-making. Already several Antonites have gained membership in the National Forensic League.

The Drama Club has staged two successful plays: Our Town in June, 1964, directed by a former teacher here, Mr. Joseph Beisel, and The Devil and Daniel Webster in December, directed by Mr. Michael Wallace. Both groups anticipate greater endeavors in the future.

The idea of winning another tournament brings smiles to officers of the Forum Club: Suzanne Schultz, secretary; Victoria Tryer, treasurer; Louis Diehl, president; and Mary Anne Saville, vice-president.

FORUM CLUB

True ease in speaking comes from art, not chance

"This is the point," explains Louis Diehl to senior members of the Forum Club: Harry Howe, Michael Wallace, Christine Schiller, and Robert Warwick, all of whom were accepted in the National Forensic League.

One of the most active members of the original "Antonian" staff was honor student, Joseph Schnorbus, '66, who died October 18, 1964. Because of his interest and dependability Joseph was chosen for the Trenton Times Most Valuable Staffer Award by fellow staff members. Here he is shown proof-reading copy with Patricia Dougherty and Andrea Deecan.

"There are all those early memories."

Scenes and readings from the Gospel narrative of the Nativity added color and solemnity to the Glee Club and Band's first Christmas program, December 1963.

Monsignor McCorristin addresses an assemblage of religious and laity who were present for the solemn dedication of the new school, September 9, 1962. Next to the empty chair in the first row of Sisters is the late Sr. M. Claretta, who died February 14, 1964. Sister was among the pioneer members of the faculty.

St. Anthony de Padua Convent. Many of our fathers and other benefactors will remember the hours they spent helping to build the Sisters' convent. It is indeed a tribute to the generosity of the good men of St. Anthony Parish and their friends.

SHALL WE EVER FORGET . . .

- the first basketball game in our brand new gym? The sophomore team played the frosh. Sophs (Class of '65) won, of course.
- our first retreat? Father Lupo's inspiring words on the freedoms and corresponding responsibilities of youth impressed us deeply.
- the first English assembly, when we dramatized Hamlet? The duel scene (Pete Warenski vs. Tony Di Natale) stole the show.

Many are our memories. It was fun to begin.

CRYSTAL COTILLION

After weeks of preparation which flew by quickly, our dreams turned into reality. At last it was February 26, the night of our Senior Prom, the "Crystal Cotillion". Merion Inn was a perfect setting and the music of Irv Winters Combo filled the air with dreamy melodies. The night was highlighted by the Grand March, which preceded the crowning of the queen.

Acting as chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Zeis, Mr. and Mrs. Cozzolino, Mr. Roche, Miss Elizabeth Powers, Mr. Peroni, and Mr. Ferry. Father Bohnsak also spent a large part of the evening with us. But as all things end, so ended our Senior Formal—and another memory was tucked away in our hearts.

"Chivalry is not dead!" On arriving at the Inn, Brian Duperreault helps Patricia Hice to remove her coat. Also arriving, Kathleen King and Patrick Hutton anticipate a wonderful evening.

Wishing always to keep remembrances of an enchanted evening, Robert Warwick, Victoria Tryer, Harry Howe, and Christine Schiller take time out to autograph programs.

King and Queen for a night! Robert Blanche and Kathryn Bonanni.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever."

As the evening draws to a close, we wish we could prolong the enchantment of our "Crystal Cotillion."

We Introduce the "Iron Mikes."

SPORTS

Hugh Breen makes good for a touchdown to insure the "Iron Mikes" of their first varsity win over St. Joe's of Camden.

FOOTBALL

Building strong bodies through hard and rugged practice sessions, the St. Anthony "eleven", with the enthusiastic support of many followers, took to the gridiron. The team began the season with a strong spirit of competition and optimism.

After dropping their first game to Ewing High, the "Iron Mikes" bounced back to hand St. Joe's of Camden a 7-6 defeat. The remainder of the season was marred by defeats at the hands of Notre Dame, Hamilton, Steinert, Holy Cross, and others. However, due to a heroic goal line stand in the closing minutes of the Mater Dei game, the "Iron Mikes" were able to pull out with a tie.

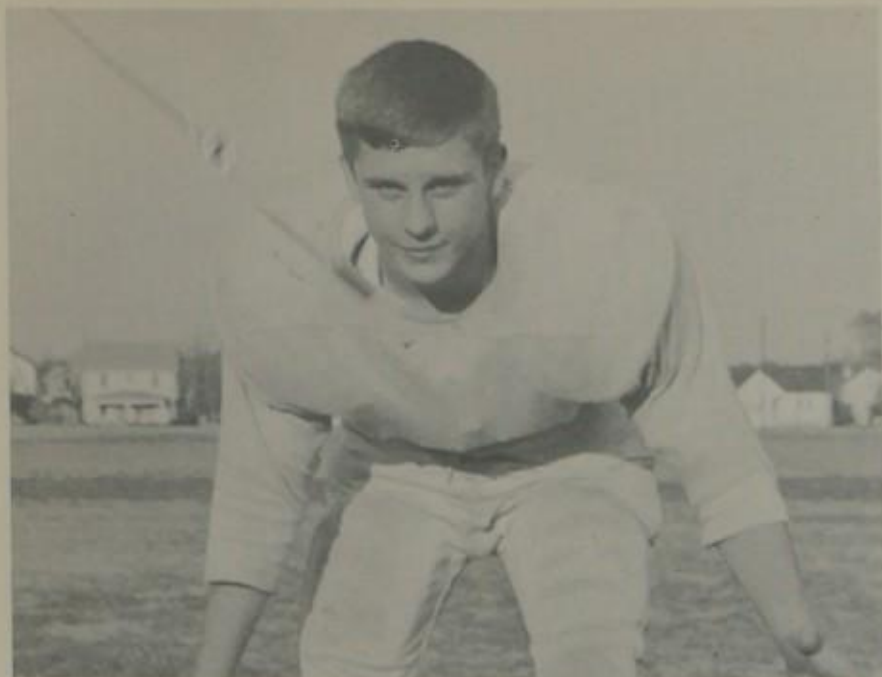

According to the scoreboard, no words can alter the fact of a rather disappointing season, due to the many injuries sustained by the team. However, the courage, spirit, and self-discipline displayed in all games by all players gained admiration and respect from every spectator.

BASKETBALL

The schedule was rough and the competition was keen, but the team was spirited and the spectators enthusiastic as the "Iron Mikes" began their second varsity season on the court. In all, ten games were played at home and 11 away, the team scoring eight wins and 13 losses.

For their first victory of the year the S.A. cagers defeated Ewing High. However, the most impressive game came against Cathedral as the "Mikes" avenged a previous one-point setback and sent the "Gaels" home with a two-point loss.

This year the "Brown and Gold" athletes succeeded in placing four members of the basketball team in all-city honors. John Hencken and Mike Barkasy led the group by being elected to the first team. Dave Potash followed on the second team, and Jack Gallagher merited honorable mention.

Victory was hard fought during the 1964-1965 campaign, and spectators who witnessed any of the games were thrilled with the talent and skill of the team as well as with the individual players, and were greatly impressed by the high degree of good sportsmanship displayed by all.

SOCCER

The "Iron Mike" booters completed their initial varsity campaign with a 4-9-2 record—not overwhelming, but not bad either for a beginning team. Among the "Brown and Gold" victims were Hunterdon Central, Moorestown, St. Joe's of Metuchen, and Cathedral. Ricky Zamparelli scored what proved to be the winning and probably the most important goal of the season against the Gaels. Summing up the results of the '64 schedule, Coach Drake expressed hopes for the future. "We should improve; we'll be bigger and more experienced," he said.

Mike Mattis proves height isn't everything, as he kicks his foot high to make that hurdle. Mike Carr, Bob Simicsak, Lou Morlando, and George Willever study the procedure.

Back in the Spring of 1963, St. Anthony began its first track and field campaign. Wracked by inexperience and lack of overall strength, the "Iron Mikes" could salvage only one victory and one tie. However, the Brown and Gold was carried to victory by individual performers, Paul Patterson and Hugh Breen, who won trophies in the Jaycee Freshman Track Meet. Also in this meet, the S.A. quarter mile relay team shattered the existing record by ten seconds.

Having recognized their potential from the previous season, the trackmen greatly improved their overall performance during 1964. Wins over Cathedral and Notre Dame and effective showings against the other teams built a strong starting block for the team in 1965.

Although definitely not the most popular sport, cross-country has been the most successful outdoor event on the new campus. The unheralded harriers, who managed only two victories during '63 season, terminated the present season with a 6-6 log. Since most of the team will be returning next year, we can expect a strong showing from the gallant long-distance runners.

GIRLS' SPORTS

A fast break-pass enables Kathy Stone to give us a two-point lead.

Who said basketball is only for boys? After a quick glance at our girls' team, the observer will surely change his opinion. This year, the first "Brown and Gold" girls' team was formed under the able leadership of Miss Frances Randow. Patience and willingness to devote time and energy was considered to be their unwritten motto. In each of their contests, the girls have shown dedication and true school spirit. Determined to do their best in each outing they exhibited plenty of hustle and skill in basic techniques.

Another important venture for girls into the athletic world is the cheerleading team. The Varsity squad received two trophies for S.A. In their freshman year, they received first place in the C.Y.O. Parochial High School Tournament. Last year, they were undefeated in the Mercer County Cheerleading Tournament.

The exuberance and vivacity of the varsity cheerleaders is apparent after the "Iron Mikes" achieved a touchdown on the field.

Time out means spirited advice from Coach Frances Randow.

An extra inch in height proves a valuable asset to Christine Smith in sparking her team to victory.

Girls' interest sparks school spirit.

We end to begin again

Graduation Culminates Three Challenging Years

Three years ago on a hazy September day we arrived, the first prospective senior class on the first day of a new school year in a brand new school still deep in the throes of construction. Behind us were memories of freshman days at C.H.S. or T.C. Before us lay new hopes, dreams, and fears. We were reminded that our role would be responsible, would be unique; for we would be the inaugurators of many of our Alma Mater's traditions. Willingly we accepted the challenge, and all too soon these eventful years are past. We are proud to have been a part in the fashioning of S.A.H.S.—its spirit, courage, devotion, and loyalty—and its memory will live forever in our hearts.

Marriage counseling is an important unit in senior religion class. Father Schneider points out a pertinent passage from Cana Is Forever to Marie Sperrazza, Robert Cichocki, and Elizabeth Cavallo.

Formula for success: Eagerness plus our mechanical drawing experts equals future engineers.

"I don't believe that's how you solve it," David Eldracher, Patrick Hutton, and Raymond Di Mattia think to themselves, while Yvonne Romero diligently explains a stumping trig problem.

Peering through the spectroscope to view the spectrum of colors, Garnet Sullivan, Kathleen Shebek, and Samuel Brucolleri agree with Sr. Catherine Michael that the wonders of God's world are evident in every science.

The members of the first 1965 "Corristin" staff wish to take this opportunity to thank all who have helped in any way to make possible this first yearbook to be published by the students of St. Anthony High School.

Special thanks are due the patrons who have contributed to the financing of the book. The seniors have remembered these good benefactors in their prayers. May God reward their generosity!

Sincere appreciation is also extended to Mrs. William Burns, a former moderator, to Mr. Thomas Everett of Rae Publishing Company, and to Lorstan-Thomas Studios for their inspiration and professional direction.

Finally, they express heartfelt appreciation and gratitude to their adviser, Sr. Agnes Francis, O.S.F., for her untiring guidance and encouragement.

"GREAT
